Lyke Adds Material From Student Body

Lyke, college humor magazine, recently has decided to accept contributions from the general student body, Betty Lou Peterson, editor-in-chief, announced.

Jokes, anecdotes, cartoons, feature stories and suggestions may be submitted in a contribution box located in the Journalism office, Room 11. Contributions will be accepted for approval this week.

Miss Peterson stated that this change was undertaken, "for those who, in the past, have made snide remarks about the magazine. Now is the time for them to show us if they can do any better."

All contributions will be judged by a selection committee for publication.

Hillel To Meet

"Let's see you all there!" is the spirit behind tonight's Hillel meeting at the Student Y, 9th and San Antonio Sts., at 8 o'clock, according to its publicity chairman.

"It is the first general meeting of the semester for the purpose of introducing new students. There will be games, dancing, and refreshments."

Tools of Progress Being Exhibited In Music Building

When were tools first used by man?—What were they?—How did basic tools create civilization?

These questions and many others will be answered today and tomorrow at the exhibit, "Civilization Through Tools," being held in the auditorium of the Music Building.

The exhibit and accompanying lecture will begin at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. on both days.

C. G. Schelly, managing director of the Wilkie Foundation, which is responsible for creating the exhibit, will lecture on the various tools man has used during one million years of human development.

Schelly is largely responsible for the research and assembling effort which brought about the exhibit.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the Santa Clara Valley Engineers' Week Committee, and admission is free.

This is the first appearance of the exhibit in the western half of the United States. Last year it covered only the eastern half.

"The exhibit is not a technical and therefore boring show for the layman. On the contrary, it should be one of great interest, and educational for everyone," according to Carl F. Kaiser, associate professor of engineering, in charge of the two-day program.

The authenticity of the exhibit-tour is credited to such world-famous museums as The American Museum of Natural History in New York City, The National Museum of Egypt in Cairo, The Los Angeles County Museum of Natural History, The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City plus many others.

Spring Spartacamp Lists 170 Sign-Ups According To Dale

Close to 170 students and advisors will attend this year's session of Spartacamp March 3 and 4, at Asilomar, according to Dale McPherson, assistant camp director.

The purpose of Spartacamp is to discuss leadership in college and to train students in the qualities of leadership.

McPherson announced the topics to be discussed in the seminars as follows: (1) "Problems of Leadership and Group Activity"; (2) "Planning and Delegation"; (3) "Committee Organizing and Functioning"; (4) "Simple Book-keeping Techniques"; (5) "Why We Communicate"; (6) "Parliamentary Procedure"; and (7) "Evaluation of Spartacamp," which is an assembly discussion evaluating each seminar and Spartacamp as a whole.

McPherson said more information will be forthcoming as preparations get ironed out.

Message Service Offered by Club

San Jose State's Amateur Radio Club has message forms for its free radiogram service located in the Engineering office, the Spartan Shop and Student Union, Irvin J. Beebe, president of the radio club, announced Friday.

Students and faculty members are invited to use this service, according to Beebe.

"The procedure for using the forms is just like any other wire. Fill out the addressee information, the message, and the sender's name. It's as simple as that," Beebe said.

Beebe also asked that the sender be sure to include his address and telephone number, in the event the message is not sent.

All messages are to be left in the box where the forms were obtained.

The reason for the safari being such a popular mode of travel throughout the African jungle is that swarms of insects will attack pack animals, and either pester them or dig into their bodies slowly sucking their blood, bringing either injury or death.

What Do You Suggest?

There must be a reason for the lack of student spirit, not only in relation to student government, but insofar as all activities on the SJS campus are concerned. This was the conclusion reached by Student Council at its last meeting. The next obvious question is, "Just what steps can be taken in order to improve this situation?"

Since the beginning of this problem, pleas have been issued to the students requesting spirit at games, better attendance at school activities, more interest in student government, etc., but despite these pleas, no notable improvement has been made, and the problem still exists. True, it's getting to be an old subject, and you're probably tired of hearing about it, but something has to be done, and the Student Council is open for any suggestions.

A few suggestions have been made by the council, and a committee has been appointed to try to find the reason for this general lack of spirit. One suggestion was that the council hold an open meeting, specifically designed for the students to become acquainted with the activities and procedures of a regular council meeting. This plan also would enable students to know their student officers. The question is, "Would you, the students, be interested in and attend such a meeting?"

It also was suggested that units be given to student body officers. The council felt that maybe this lack of interest was because of heavy schedules students must carry, and that if credit were given, students could afford to take an interest in their government.

The council also considered the fact that many students put in so many hours of work that they do not have any extra time to contribute to student activities.

With these suggestions in mind, the committee has taken action to find out the real reasons behind the lack of school spirit. No definite action can be taken unless the committee knows what you, the students, have to say about the ideas, or what other suggestions you may have.

The council has started the ball rolling, but you can give it an extra push by informing the council of your suggestions and ideas for this problem. You definitely are involved and, therefore, should know the answers.

An instructor in religion at Texas Christian University pointed out last week that the author of the gospel of John was a Christian and added, "Now I will proceed to show you that the writer of John was not a Baptist." He chuckled at his pun, but a latent Baptist, from the back row, wasn't rejoicing. "You mean John was able to be a Christian," he countered, "even though he wasn't a Baptist?"

MOST PENETRATING OPINION OF THE WEEK, from the University of North Dakota's "Dakota Student":

"Larry Lubenow, sophomore, journalism: 'No, I don't think I'll run again because he has a good salary.'"

MOST INTRIGUING ARTIST OF THE WEEK, from Pepperdine College's "Graphic":

"Artist of the Week is Judy Richtmeyer, a freshman from Longview High School in Texas. Judy is an art major with an education minor and is on a full tuition scholarship from high school scholarship competition. Judy is on display in the main hall of the Administration Building. Artist of the Week is sponsored by Alpha Rho Tau."

AFROTC WOMEN

San Francisco State College is fairing even better off basketball courts. Walter Van Tilberg Clark, noted author of "The Ox-Bow Incident" and "Track of the Cat", will teach creative writing courses there next fall. The college also has been granted $125,177 by the Ford Foundation for closed circuit experiments in educational TV, and SFS women may now register into AFROTC classes thanks to a departmental move to "glamorize the military."

The City Police Department of Washington, D.C., recently received a breezy communication from a Michigan State student: "During the last week in March, around Easter, I plan to visit Washington, D.C. I do not know anybody in or near Washington. I am working my way through college and can't afford hotel accommodations and I thought it might be possible to stay in the jail a night or two. How's the weather there in March?"

The Deputy Police Chief read it and wet his finger and looked hard at the forecast for March. He sent the young man's request to the director of the Department of Corrections who relayed it to an administrative clerk. The clerk pleaded the boy's case before the Board of Trade, and lost. She replied to the student, in part: "It is necessary to advise you that we do not furnish board and room for campus wayfarers through Washington."

Home Economics Display 'Apple of Any Man's Eye'

By RITA SABOL

They're the apple of his eye! The unusual dolls on display in the case in the lower hall of the home economics building would be the apple of any man's eye! Why? Because the heads of these dolls actually are made of apples.

Mrs. Fred Feusse of Orchard Road, Saratoga, designed and made the dolls which have become collectors' items. According to Miss Anna Loze, assistant professor of home economics, the dolls have been the subject of admiration and discussion wherever they have been on display, including the Santa Clara County Fair.

MADE OF APPLES

Miss Loze explained that the faces of the dolls are carved in fresh apples. After about a year the faces dry to the color and wrinkled appearance of the elder citizens in the doll community. "They look like characters out of story books," Miss Loze remarked.

Mrs. Feusse uses large apples for the heads, Rome Beauties or Stark's Delicious, and they shrink to about one-fifth their original size when dried.

The facial features of the dolls are carved on the apple before it is dried. After being pierced through the core with a stick, the apple is left six to eight weeks to dehydrate and then carving is continued.

After standing for a year, the apple has the appearance of human skin and is suitable for a doll's head.

The eyes of the dolls are made of tiny beads and the hair is real. Old porcelain dishes are crushed to make the teeth in the nylon stockings padded on copper wire, and the little men and women are realistically clothed from underwear to miniature coats and hats.

Stone Foils Flies

By JIM KALLENBACH

Showing how flies not only are annoying pests but carriers of contamination and disease is no easy chore; but George E. Stone, associate professor of photography, came up with a novel idea for illustration.

An official of the State Public Health Department asked the professor to take a picture of flies in the process of polluting food. The picture had to be effective and yet not disgusting. Stone had his problem cut out for him.

Taking good clear pictures of flies, the professor admits, is not the easiest task.

Stone made a small box and covered the inside with dark cloth to cut off all light once the box was closed. He then placed a tiny flashlight with condensing lens through an opening in the side of the box, near a sugar cube that had been placed on a small stand earlier. Directly above the cube he put a piece of stove pipe with the flashlight lying on it, forcing the light down through the "chimney."

The box was quite complete. Now for the flies!

The professor put three house flies into the box and anxiously awaited the results. At first the diptera were frightened.

Everything depended on the next few seconds for if the flies were disturbed in any way and attempted flight, there wasn't the slightest chance for a useable picture.

Soon they were swarming over the cube eating, breeding and having a jolly good time, unconcerned about what was about to happen.

Click!—and Stone had "shot" the threesome.

That's how Stone took his picture and three contented flies satisfied a sweet tooth, while making their "picture" debut.

How Starfish Dine Is Zoologists' Quest

ITHACA, N. Y.—(UP)—Cornell University zoologists are trying to find out how a starfish sends its stomach out for dinner.

Prof. John Anderson, head of the Cornell research project, said a hungry starfish grapples with a clam or oyster, then pushes its own stomach out through its mouth into the open shell. Digesting a complete living clam in an hour or two, the starfish pulls its stomach back in, Anderson said.

Newsspaper Peoples Committ Some Slight Mistooks Alsso!

By DON SHEETS

While rummaging through some old copies of a newspaper recently, I came across this announcement: "The captain wishes to notify all interested persons that vacation Bible School will begin in the first week in July."

It should have read: "The Chaplain wishes to notify all . . . etc."

It was a minor mistake. Despite all the pains taken in copyreading and proofreading, all newspapers find little discrepancies sneaking in occasionally. As evidence, here are a few miscues picked from various papers with practically no trouble at all.

An ad run in the Los Angeles Mirror read: "WANTED: Bachelor professor desires cook; middle-aged, white, just plain fool, nothing fancy."

An article in the Yorktown Enterprise said: "Mrs. Fahlman has entirely recovered from her broken collarbone, but her knee is still in the hands of the doctors."

Or how about this bit of misprint in the Jacksonville News and Views that described Senator Douglas of Illinois as a "battle-scarred Marine of World War II."

It happens to all of us. We try diligently to avoid errors, realizing that they sometimes might cause serious inconveniences to those concerned . . . not to mention the fact they hurt us.

A good example is the story of a man with a sewing machine for sale who resorted to the classified ads, and his ad came out as follows:

MONDAY: FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one Singer sewing machine for sale. Phone 958. Call after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelley who lives with him cheap.

TUESDAY: We regret having erred in R. D. Smith's ad yesterday. It should have read:

FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one Singer sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 and ask for Mrs. Kelley who lives with him after 7 p.m.

WEDNESDAY: Mr. R. D. Smith has informed us he has received many annoying calls because of an error we made in his classified ad yesterday. We sincerely regret our mistake. His ad stands corrected:

FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one Singer sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelley who lives with him.

THURSDAY: NOTICE I, R. D. Smith have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 958, the phone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Kelley. Until yesterday she was my housekeeper.

There, see how easy it is? Just one misplaced word, or even one misspelled letter and the whole meaning has been changed. Mistakes will be made despite all human efforts.

Spartan Ring Team Beware

If last weekend's college boxing meets are any indication, San Jose State's crack ring squad will have plenty of rough moments before the 1956 campaign reaches a climax. Of particular interest was a small story that came over the U.P. wire, giving the score of the Idaho State-Oklahoma match, won by Idaho State, 7-1. Also of interest was a short on the Louisiana State-Nevada meet, won by LSU, 6-3.

Idaho State's easy victory over Oklahoma spells trouble for the Spartans. Oklahoma has one of the most highly regarded squads in the country. The Bengals made mincemeat of the tough Sooners. Spartan Coach Julie Menendez reports Idaho State has by far the best college squad in the United States. San Jose News sports writer Wes Mathis, a long-time follower of college boxing, goes a step further. He calls Idaho State "the San Francisco Dons of college boxing." We hope the Spartans are able to do better against the Bengals than they did against the Dons. The two teams meet March 2-3 along with Washington State and Michigan State in the Inter-Mountain Tourney at Pocatello.

A look at the lineup and one readily sees why Idaho State is rated so high. Back in the fold are former NCAA heavyweight king Mike McMurtrey and PCI champs Dan Axtman (139) and Dave McCullom (119). At 168 pounds the Bengals have L. G. Neal who gave Max Voshall a run for his money last year. Most impressive are the newcomers Dave Abeyta (125) Walt Chepardson (132) and Ron Rall (147). Spartans may remember this trio from last year's college freshman tournament held in San Jose. They wiped out the field.

Don't let Nevada's loss fool you. Anytime an opposing team wins three bouts from LSU in Baton Rouge it is a major accomplishment. Way down in the summary of the A.P. story was the 139-pound bout where Nevada's Keith Ernst scored a TKO over LSU's Bobby Freeman in the third round. Freeman was last year's NCAA champion.

San Jose State and Nevada meet this Friday in Spartan Gym, and ring fans can look forward to one of the best battles of the season.

Ex-Spartans in Exclusive Group

From this corner it appears Spartans Pete Brady, Joe Barrington, Chuck Alexander, and Art Lambert joined a fairly select group when they were knocked for a loop by the grades at the end of last semester. Already in the group are such notables as COP's Dick Bass and Don Brownfield, Indiana's Milt Campbell, NCAA and AAU high hurdles champ; and Iowa's Charles "Deacon" Jones, NCAA cross country champ and holder of times of 4:11.4 and 9:14.4 for the mile and two mile races. So it seems the Spartan quartet is in pretty exclusive company.

Laugh of the week on the scholastic deficiencies situation was a letter to the editor appearing in a recent copy of the San Francisco Examiner. The letter praises COP for having such fine, high standards in axing Brownfield and Bass. Other colleges should look to COP as an example, it stated. Enough said.

Does the Green Squad Recruit?

For those Spartans interested in some rock-em-sock-em basketball we would recommend San Jose's intramural cage league which opens on all fronts this afternoon in Spartan gym.

Pre-season interest has run high, but from reports we hear, director Charlie Hardy might as well call off the schedule and declare the Green Squad champion. According to Eli Gardner, member of the squad, the Green squad is a cinch.

It seems the members of the club have recruited freshman sensation Art Powell as their coach and have lined up such notables as Mel Powell, Cleveland Greenfield, George Cobb, and Hal Boutte, former Hartnell ace, to perform.

When it was announced Art Powell was to be the coach, we decided San Diego J.C. had been accusing the wrong people of recruiting. It now appears it might have been the Green squad that made the lucrative offers to Powell. However, Gardner denies Powell is eating high and fancy. He comments, "We haven't won the championship yet."

Gardner reports the name Green squad comes from a system used in football practice where the squads are named according to color. For example, gold is the best team, followed by red and blue. Green is the rock bottom. Gardner says green was chosen "because we didn't want to scare the other fellows off."

Apparently Director Hardy thought differently because he gave the Green squad a bye in today's action. Says Hardy, "We wanted to make the best showing during the first night."

Three SJS Skiers Through for Year

By CLARK BIGGS

What chances SJS might have had for a successful skiing season were shattered over the semester vacation when three of the top members of the ski team were knocked out for the season. Ken Kaneda, State's best potential skier, chipped bones in both ankles in a fall at Squaw Valley.

Dave Franceschini, top prospect in the downhill, broke his ankle while practicing at Sun Valley. Then, last week Dick Larson fell in the downhill race at the Reno Winter Carnival, suffering a compound fracture of his leg. He fell on a course on which four persons had broken their legs the day before.

Doug Fox, as usual, continues to be the steadiest and most dependable performer on Dr. Gordon Edwards' team.

Two Track Teams Receive Sponsors

Two squads in the annual Inter-class Track and Field Meet have received sponsors, according to Bud Winter, Spartan spike mentor.

Pi Kappa Alpha and Delta Gamma will co-sponsor one team while Sigma Chi and a sorority to be designated later will support another team. This leaves three teams unsponsored for the March 2 event.

The five team captains are Lang Stanley, Art Hiett, Don Hubbard, Jim Hushaw and Ray Goodwin.

Dr. Edwards has been highly impressed with Jerry Price and Don Bickford. Price entered all four events at the Winter Carnival and was 16th in overall competition.

The next competition for the team will be the Tiesider Memorial at Badger Pass in Yosemite Feb. 24, 25, and 26. They will compete against Stanford, Modesto, Sierra College of Auburn and probably California.

March 3 and 4 Sierra will sponsor a meet at Tunnel Mountain near Cisco Grove in which all state colleges and junior colleges with teams will compete plus Cal, Stanford and Nevada. Separate competition will be held in the three divisions with San Jose favored in the state college division.

Winding up the season will be the Vanderbilt Cup at Squaw Valley March 16 and 17. At this time qualification for the NCAA competition will be held.

Foreign Coaches Will Attend Clinic

Five coaches from four countries have accepted invitations to the first annual International Track and Field Clinic, June 11-14 at Berkeley by the meet.

The four countries are West Germany, Canada, Puerto Rico and Mexico. Best known coach is Toni Nett, West Germany, who will be a speaker at the clinic.

Mustangs Decision San Jose

Mittmen Face Nevada In Friday Encounter

Spartan boxers fell to Cal Poly in a close 4½-3½ decision Friday, but will be out to resume their winning ways against Nevada this week.

The win by Cal Poly marred State's bid for a second straight victory, and marked the first time the Spartans have been beaten by a California collegiate team since 1941.

San Jose plays host to the invading Wolfpack of Nevada Friday night in the Spartan Gym.

Cal Poly jumped to a quick lead over the Spartans, winning two of the three opening bouts of the night, and maintained that narrow margin for victory.

San Jose's Max Veshall, Al Julian and Mel Ratkovich scored victories for Coach Julie Menendez's squad, all keeping their 1956 win record unblemished.

Voshall knocked out tough Rudy Brooks in the second round, and Julian and Ratkovich pounded out decisions over their opponents.

In the most exciting bout of the night, Spartan Welvin Stroud and Frank Loudouca battled to a draw that had the crowd on its feet for most of the toe to toe action.

In other bouts, San Jose's Al Acursio and Vic Rapazzini were decided by their Cal Poly opponents, and Jack Montgomery was stopped by Bob Gow. Jim Torney was TKO'd by Mustang big gun, Jack Shaw.

The Spartan Junior Varsity recorded a 2½-1½ victory over the Cal Poly J.V.'s in the four bout preliminary. Stu Rubine and Carl Christensen registered victories while Pete Cisneros battled to a draw. Jerry Ulrich lost his bout by a decision.

Sports Car Rally Slated Saturday at Stanford

An intercollegiate Sports Car rally will be held Feb. 25 from 12 to 6 p.m. at Stanford, according to Tom Boardman, San Jose State representative.

Boardman reports the rally will start at Angell Field and will be 175 miles in length. He urges all Spartans interested to contact him by calling Yorkshire 7-2464 after 1 o'clock. Entries must be in by Thursday.

Spartan Swimmers Lose To Tough Stanford, 52-32

Stanford's powerful swimming team chalked up an easy, 52-32, victory over San Jose State, breaking two pool records in the process, Friday afternoon in Spartan pool.

San Jose State will return to action again tomorrow night when it plays host to Arden Hills Swim Club of Sacramento. First event will start at 7:30 o'clock.

New pool records were turned in by Stanford's Doug Ackermann in the 100-yard freestyle and Colber Wilbur in the 200-yard breaststroke. Ackermann was timed in :52.0 breaking the old mark of :52.5 set by J. M. McCarthy of Treasure Island Navy last year. Wilbur's time of 2:29.4 is believed to be the fastest clocking for the orthodox breaststroke.

The meet wasn't as close as the score indicated. Stanford forfeited the diving, giving the Spartans eight easy points, and the Indian 400-yard freestyle relay quartet was disqualified after scoring an easy victory when second man, Carver Nixon, jumped the gun.

Backstroke Stan McConnell was the only Spartan actually to win a first place. McConnell came with five-tenths of the school record in the 200-yard backstroke and scored a five yard victory over Stanford's Ron Grunt in 2:25.5.

Closest Race of the afternoon was the 50-yard freestyle where only two yards separated Stanford's Nixon from San Jose's third place finisher Dick Threlfall. Nixon was timed in :24.0, while Threlfall's :24.6 clocking was his best ever.

THE SUMMARY
300-yard medley relay—Stanford (Grunt, Miller, Clements), San Jose State, Time 3:00.0.
200-yard freestyle—Moore (S), Devine (S), McCandless (S), Time 2:16.5.
50-yard freestyle—Nixon (S), Gay (S), Threlfall (S), Time :24.0.

Spartans Tumble To Fifth

COP, Loyola Capture Thrillers From State

San Jose State's cagers slipped into the second division of the California Basketball Assn. race after dropping two heartbreakers over the weekend to College of Pacific and Loyola.

Coach Walt McPherson's charges will attempt to move back into the top bracket tomorrow night when they travel to Fresno to meet the Bulldogs in an 8:15 o'clock contest.

The Spartans were nipped by COP, 60-59, Friday night in Stockton as John Thomas and Dave Davis put on a great offensive performance. Saturday night, Loyola edged SJS, 71-69, on a final second bucket.

Thomas dunked in 23 and Davis added 22 for the Tigers Friday. COP led all the way as San Jose couldn't come closer than two tie scores.

Loyola and the Spartans battled nip-and-tuck the whole game with the lead changing hands nine times and the score being deadlocked six times.

The visiting Lions led, 40-37, at halftime due mainly to the 16-point effort of Tom Salvino and the 10 points of Dave Benadaret. However, in the second half, Gil Egeland held Salvino to one basket until the Spartan star fouled out with five minutes to go.

After Fred Niemann of SJS knotted the game at 65-65 on two free tosses with four minutes to go, the Lions moved into a 68-65 lead. John Erceg tossed in two charity tries to cut it to 68-67 but Tom Donahue sank a free throw for Loyola. With a little more than one minute to go in the game, Erceg hit a nice jump shot to tie it, 69-69.

The Lions, however, successfully stalled out the clock on a Salvino went in and scored on a jump shot as the gun sounded for the victory.

Salvino scored 20 for high point honors. Erceg led the Spartans with 15, followed by Diaz with 13. San Jose's Freshman five eclipsed the school scoring record in the preliminary, dumping Hartnell College, 88-56. The varsity scored 87 against Pepperdine earlier this season.

Don Woods was the big gun for the Spartababes, scoring 26 points on 11 fielders in 14 attempts and 4-for-4 at the free throw line.

Dual Controls Placed On SJS Safety Car

The installation of dual driver controls on the safety car used in driver training has been completed, according to Ralph C. Bohn, assistant professor of industrial arts.

The safety car is used in Ed. 192, Driver Education. The course is designed to prepare teachers for the Driver Education programs in high schools.

There are two prerequisites for the course. First, a valid California state driver's license is needed and secondly, the course is open only to education majors. Those who already have a teaching credential may take Ed. 192 and Ed. 191, Safety Education, and will receive a Driver Education teaching credential upon completion of the course.

Each student in Ed. 192 is required to teach at least one non-driver to drive well enough to pass the California state driver's test. The dual control car is used for this part of the course.

Each student also is required to serve on one of several committees that discuss safety programs. One such committee now is investigating the possibility of setting up a college-wide safety test program. This program, if approved, would enable San Jose State students to bring their cars to the industrial arts auto shop and have the lights, brakes and other items checked.

Dr. Richard B. Lewis, head of the audio visual service will demonstrate an interview technique with Mrs. Gaither Lee Martin, audio visual staff member, who will take the part of a mentally ill patient.

Dr. Lewis also will speak on the use of television for training in education, and Mrs. Martin will present a summary of SJS's proposal for future research in closed circuit television.

Mr. Charles H. R. Over of the audio visual staff, will explain the studio setup and the purpose of closed circuit television.

A motion picture of experiments in closed circuit TV, which SJS conducted at Agnew State Hospital, recently, will be shown.

Co-operating organizations in this demonstration, are Agnew State Hospital, SJS audio visual service center and KAYLAB, a television equipment company from San Diego.

Student Y Director Tells of Successful Discussion Meeting

A discussion was held on the subject of "The Christian Student in a World in Revolt," at the Student Y's Wednesday night meeting, reports the Rev. James Martin, executive director of "Y".

"None of the world's problems were solved," the Rev. Martin said, "but students left the discussion with more awareness of the problems and more of an idea on the student's individual responsibilities in solving them."

The audience heard several students who had been to the Student Volunteer Movement Conference in Athens, Ohio, talk on a panel, and then broke up into smaller discussion groups, finally assembling for a general discussion.

Sioux Tribe Steps Out; Indians Steal Premiere From Hollywood Stars

SIoux FALLS, S.D., (UP)—An Indian mother took her children to the movies to see their dead father come to life, only to die once more before their eyes.

Mrs. Wallace Millard, 25, traveled 300 miles from the Sioux Indian reservation at Rosebud, S.D., to say a last goodbye to her husband. She brought a 2-week-old daughter and a 2-year-old son and left two older children at home.

It was a great adventure for the children, particularly 2-year-old Coco, who had a major role in the Western movie "The Last Hunt."

The Roly-Poly boy laughed, pointed his finger, and said "Coco, Coco," whenever he was on the screen. He didn't notice his father, playing the bit part of an Indian brave.

For the mother, it was different. She saw her husband die last Jan. 13 when his car went over a 150-foot embankment near Parmelee, S.D. Now, she was watching him die again.

The young mother became tense when Millard appeared on the screen for the first time in his brief role. She put her hand to her face.

Then, on the screen, actor Robert Taylor shot her husband. As he died in make-believe, Mrs. Millard slumped back in her seat and became almost limp.

The forlorn Indian family, easily stole the show from a bevy of Hollywood actors which had arrived for the premiere of the movie.

Coco drew more applause than actors Stewart Granger and Russ Tamblyn. Granger took the scene-stealing in good grace, picking up Coco and presenting Mrs. Millard with a scholarship for the boy.

Sixteen foreign students representing seven countries were guests of the San Jose Rotary Club last Wednesday, at the club's International Luncheon. The luncheon drew more than 200 persons, according to Mrs. Dorothy Hutchings, publicity chairman. Also attending the confab were Floyd Greenleaf and Phillip Persky, language clinic instructors.

Roger Yeu, ISO president, was introduced to Rotary members by Peter Chung, chairman of the program. Yeu spoke to the group about the relationship of ISO to the community.

The program was highlighted by two Japanese songs, sung by Tom Hirota, Sumio Yonemoto, Takeshi Okumura, and Joji Okada. Peter Chung gave a Japanese solo.
